What's the Story?

1/4. A real story is never recorded and retold completely

- Impossible to record every detail.
- Recording entails compression to scale of medium (narrative hierarchy).
- Story logic will be favored, and seemingly irrelevant aspects discarded.

3/4. The infinitude of adjacent stories means “better” stories exist for those who would disinform

- Adjacent stories may be truth-limited and/or falsehood-bearing.
- There may exist adjacent stories that conform to a world view/ideology.

4/4. Character is the short cut to story

-  The barely implausible can be believed if the character can make it so.
-  A believe-to-be evil character can do anything.
-  Iterate between character and story to make the character fixed.

From the end of the interview:

NICOLAS HENIN: No, it was just like in a movie. And, by the way, even the people going to Syria, joining ISIS in Syria to fight, even these people see himself as movie characters. They play their own movie. This is why I think that the most powerful way to fight ISIS are not bombs. It is to kill the narrative. We have to write another movie. We have to build other heroes. And this is why I believe that the French are making big mistakes in the ways they, they fight ISIS.

We created, for instance, accounts on the social media named "Stop Jihadism," and this is [BLEEP], like they did not understand anything. And I did understand why we are so bad. It's just because in France we don't know how to write TV series properly.

[BROOKE LAUGHS]

Just because we have no imagination, we cannot just tell beautiful stories, create beautiful characters, beautiful heroes.

And this is what we have to do because in our world, in our societies what do people want? They want to become heroes. They want to be famous. They want to be, to be recognized.

"I don't know what the new national story will be, but maybe it will be less individualistic and more redemptive. Maybe it will be a story about communities that heal those who suffer from addiction, broken homes, trauma, prison and loss, a story of those who triumph over the isolation, social instability and dislocation so common today."

Major groupings are labelled by region or ATU international type and indicated by the coloured nodes. Sub-types are indicated in the taxa labels (RH = Little Red Riding Hood; GM = Story of Grandmother; Catt = Catterinella; WK = The Wolf and the Kid; TG = Tiger Grandmother). Variants by particular authors, or from countries/ethnic groups that are discussed in the text have individual labels. Numbers beside the edges represent the level of support for individual clades returned by the bootstrap analysis.

The taxonomy of stories:

PoCS
@pocsvox
What's the Story?

Fundamental arcs:

- 🧱 Kill the Monster.
- 🧱 Rags to Riches (and Riches to Rags—Metamorphosis).
- 🧱 Journey/Odyssey: Search for a salvation, a “Holy Grail”.
- 🧱 Romance.
- 🧱 Narratives in Left Nullspace: Again, All Stories of The Many.

What about comedies?

- 🧱 Comedies are not in themselves a story, but a way of telling stories.

Stories are algorithms for life:

Homo narrativus:

- Provide dynamic paths and trajectories.
- If this, then that.
- Convey and reinforce how to behave, how not to behave.

Stories are everything

- Maybe, yes.
- Characters* + Time.

We talk about and study stories everywhere but ...

- We don't have a central place academically.
- Departments of: English, political science, folklore, cognitive sciences, arts, musicology, communication, ...

🧱 "Tool-Driven Scientific Revolutions Scientific revolutions are more often driven by new tools than by new concepts.

🧱 Thomas Kuhn in his famous book, The Structure of Scientific Revolutions, talked almost exclusively about concepts and hardly at all about tools. His idea of a scientific revolution is based on a single example, the revolution in the theoretical physics that occurred in the 1920s with the advent of quantum mechanics.

🧱 This was a prime example of a concept-driven revolution. Kuhn's book was so brilliantly written that it became an instant classic. It misled a whole generation of students and historians of science into believing that all scientific revolutions are concept-driven."

- ❏ "The concept-driven revolutions are the ones that attract the most attention and have the greatest impact on the public awareness of science, but in fact they are comparatively rare.
- ❏ In the last five hundred years we have had six major concept-driven revolutions, associated with the names of Copernicus, Newton, Darwin, Maxwell, Einstein and Freud, besides the quantum-mechanical revolution that Kuhn took as his model.
- ❏ During the same period there have been about 20 tool-driven revolutions, not so impressive to the general public but of equal importance to the progress of science."

 "I will not attempt to make a complete list of tool-driven revolutions. Two prime examples are the Galilean revolution resulting from the use of the telescope in astronomy, and the Crick-Watson revolution resulting from the use of X-ray diffraction to determine the structure of big molecules in biology.

 The effect of a concept-driven revolution is to explain old things in new ways.

 The effect of a tool-driven revolution is to discover new things that have to be explained."

Observations/Claims/Questions:

- Primacy of storytelling and storybelieving in for individuals and populations.
- Maybe: Stories are dynamical paths; plots are algorithms that give rise to stories.
- Internet gives extraordinary power to propaganda, disinformation ↗, conspiracy theories, ...
- Global social media creates a global robust-yet-fragile social system.
 - Failure can be endogenous (infighting) and/or ignited/suported from the outside.
